Congratulations Animal Acupuncture Graduates

This fall, MUIH graduated the most recent class from the Animal Acupuncture Certification program. As more and more people are experiencing the healing possibilities of Chinese medicine, it's natural that they are now seeking the same treatment for their animal companions. The class participants, all licensed acupuncturists, were eager to fill this growing need. Read more

MUIH and University of Maryland Upper Chesapeake Health Sign Partnership Agreement

Maryland University of Integrative Health (MUIH) and University of Maryland Upper Chesapeake Health (UM UCH) are joining forces to bring integrative health services to individuals receiving care at UM Upper Chesapeake Medical Center. The agreement offers MUIH graduate student interns the opportunity to collaborate with health providers at UM UCH to offer an integrative medical model, while offering a wide range of natural approaches to health and healing to

Dr. Steffany Moonaz's Study on Yoga and Arthritis Gaining Attention

A study by Dr. Steffany Moonaz, associate director of integrative health sciences, on the effects of yoga on individuals with arthritis is gaining attention from a number of news outlets. Read more about the outcomes of the study in the Baltimore Sun, Time, and from Johns Hopkins Medicine.

Correction: In the August newsletter, Dr. Pamela Jeter's research publication on yoga and balance with the visually-impaired was incorrectly attributed to Dr. Steffany Moonaz. Dr. Jeter is the primary author and Dr. Moonaz supported her in this work.

Recipe: Curried Apple Sweet Potato Bisque

This recipe uses a custom curry blend that includes cardamom, coriander, cinnamon, cloves, and a serious dose of black pepper. Any curry powder or curry blend will do, though! Get the recipe
