

Type of Opportunity: Nutrition

Company Name: HEX Ferments

Job Title: Brand Ambassador

Job Type: Part-time

City: Baltimore

State: MD

Details: HEX Ferments uses the traditional method of fermentation to preserve and transform local, organic produce into nourishing foods – presently: unique sauerkrauts, kimchi, seasonal ferments, and kombucha tea. Fermented foods are in every culture and for thousands of years have been an effective way to preserve the harvest and make foods more digestible while detoxifying and enhancing nutrients.

The effect of fermentation transforms foods to make flavors more complex, while adding naturally occurring probiotics to your diet. We are seeking hard-working and motivated people who can join us in supporting our mission as local food entrepreneurs. HEX Ferments are Maryland-based food alchemists, dedicated to sourcing from local and organic farmers. We believe in creating partnerships with these providers of sustenance to create unique ferments that support our individual health as well as the health of our local foodshed.

If you love supporting your local organic farms, talking about your latest food findings with friends, promoting health and good food practices, and being involved with a highly energized and passionate team, then this job is for you!

Position is part-time

Specifically you will be required to:

- Conduct tasting demonstrations primarily in markets throughout the Baltimore/DC region such as Whole Foods and MOM's Organic Market
- Engage in conversations about our goods and prepare to answer questions about the benefits, process, and ingredients of our fermented offerings
- Conduct occasional events such as conventions or festivals that include direct sales and interacting with the public and other food vendors
- Attend occasional meetings
- Display goods for tastings and events
- Work 2 shifts in our production facility the first two months of employment

Qualifications:

- Highly self-motivated
- Personable and friendly
- Outgoing and positive
- Excellent communication skills
- Extremely comfortable engaging in conversation with new people
- Must have a car
- Weekend availability

Compensation: this position is PAID at a competitive hourly rate for duration of travel, duration of demo, plus mileage reimbursement
